A Level Results 2008

Embargo to: Thursday 14 August 2008

Students at Friends' School Saffron Walden once again celebrated impressive results in this year's 'A' level exams, achieving a 100% pass rate for the fourth year in a row, with 82% of results at grades A-C, beating the national 73.9% figure.

Head Graham Wigley said that although students didn't quite match the dizzy heights of last year's exceptional record grades, this year's leavers did themselves more than proud, with some highly creditable individual achievements hidden behind the headline figures. The vast majority of students' grades exceeded expectations. He added, 'This year's results continue the strong upward trend that Friends' results have shown at 'A' level over the past five years and reflect the hard work of the students and the dedication and skill of their teachers. The whole school community will feel extremely satisfied as our students head off to their chosen Universities.'
